♥ wake up before sunrise

Write the name of the task at the beginning of your day then in the evening draw a circle around the result of your work. Do not forget to evaluate the completed work.

Use a pencil so you can use the same list the next day after erasing the information in the morning. You can write down recurring and fixed tasks with a pen. Don't forget to collect evaluation points before erasing them to write them down in your monthly achievement tracking list.
